

PUBLIC SERVICE & OUTREACH STUDENT SCHOLARS PROGRAM

SUPPORTED BY THE OFFICE OF THE VICE PRESIDENT FOR PUBLIC SERVICE AND OUTREACH

2019-2020 PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The Public Service & Outreach Student Scholars program provides the opportunity for a select cohort of undergraduate students to explore and engage with the University of Georgia’s public service and outreach (PSO) mission. The Student Scholars program is not a service organization per se, but rather an opportunity to learn how UGA applies expertise across the state to develop leaders, create jobs and address critical challenges in Georgia and beyond. Supported by the Office of the Vice President for Public Service and Outreach, this year-long program is intended to provide deeper understanding of PSO’s purpose, breadth, and depth through supervised experiences with PSO and communities, to help students link their public service experiences with their career and educational goals, and to create a community of student scholars who understand the role of public service and outreach in Georgia and more broadly.

The program was first established in Spring 2011. For the 2019-20 program year, a cohort of up to 20 PSO Student Scholars will be selected through a competitive application process.

2019-2020 PROGRAM OVERVIEW

- 150 hours (ca. 10 hours per week) of direct internship work with a PSO unit during Spring Semester, generally including a final internship project (e.g., article, report, contract, etc.) determined in coordination with the PSO unit mentor.
- Participation in assessment and feedback on the program, including program publicity and social networking.

Spring PSO Internships

Each Scholar will be selected by one of the following PSO units for a 150-hour internship during Spring 2019. A wide range of majors and interests are desired, and many units can successfully use the skills and interests of students for both working with the public and internally; some possibilities include:

- The Archway Partnership connects higher education resources to community-identified priorities in eight locations around Georgia.* Past interns have worked on outreach and research projects with Archway communities relating to health, education, public relations, and more.
- The Carl Vinson Institute of Government provides assistance and training to state and local government officials. Past interns have done applied research and outreach with the International Center, fiscal notes, GIS databases with ITOS, public finance, and more.
- The J.W. Fanning Institute for Leadership Development focuses on focus on leadership development to implement sustainable solutions to community challenges. Past interns have worked with Peer Court, youth leadership programs, program evaluation, content development, and more.
- Marine Extension Service and Georgia Sea Grant carry out coastal-based applied research, education, outreach and training.* Past interns have helped with communications/public relations, coastal policy and outreach, film festivals, applied research, and more.
- The Office of Service-Learning fosters the integration of relevant service addressing critical community needs into academic courses campus-wide. Past interns have helped with program administration, materials development, Engage Georgia, Campus Kitchen and Experience UGA initiatives.
- The Small Business Development Center supports business development, training, and applied research. Past interns have done job shadowing, feedback on business plans, and assisted with trainings.
- The State Botanical Garden of Georgia is a public garden that provides environmental education, applied research, and outreach. Past interns have helped with a range of conservation work, propagation, educational programs, and applied research activities.
- The University of Georgia Center for Continuing Education & Hotel provides continuing education for personal and professional development as well as hotel, dining and conference center services. Past interns have been involved with statewide youth competitions, management and operations, and customer service initiatives.
- The Office of the Vice President for Public Service & Outreach and the PSO Communications office also accept internship placements. Past interns have been involved with supporting the statewide student bus tour, developing program promotion materials, alumni involvement, and special events.

Some internships (marked * above) could include occasional travel outside Athens if appropriate.

Optional Summer/Fall Internships

Scholars who successfully complete the year-long program are invited to propose a summer outreach, research or internship project in conjunction with a PSO unit (locally or at other locations where units are engaged). These are full- or part-time, for some or all of the summer, and funding for travel or other expenses can also be requested. Options for Fall 2020 may also be available, depending on unit needs. Typically, 5-8 projects are funded each year.

Recognition

Students selected as Scholars will receive recognition at the Public Service and Outreach annual meeting during Honors Week in April. Scholars are also occasionally invited to represent UGA and PSO as “ambassadors” at special events, on and off campus.

Eligibility

The Public Service & Outreach Student Scholars program is open to any UGA undergraduate student in good standing with a 3.0 or higher GPA who has completed at least a year of university study prior to Fall Semester 2019.

Application Guidelines

Interested students should submit:

- the completed application form,
- a current résumé,
- one faculty reference form (sent by the faculty directly to the Office of Service-Learning),
- an official transcript (sent by the Registrar’s Office to the Office of Service-Learning, or electronically to Dr. Matthews at pmatthew@uga.edu), and
- a 250-500 word statement explaining 1) how participation in the PSO Student Scholars program would enhance your career and academic goals, and 2) your preference for possible internship placement(s) and why.

Application deadline is March 30, 2019. Program finalists will be interviewed in April, with final notification prior to the end of the semester.
